

タイトル

This image shows a template for primary-ruled paper. It consists of eight identical vertical columns arranged side-by-side. Each column is designed for handwriting practice and contains six rectangular boxes stacked vertically. Every box is further divided into three horizontal sections by a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line. The entire grid is enclosed within a double-line blue border.